Haryana's revised 2023 Market Development Assistance Scheme helped qualifying micro and small enterprises meet specified costs of participating in trade exhibitions. The activity is market access: exhibiting products and meeting buyers at an eligible event. It does not reimburse the value of goods sold or provide a general marketing budget.

The August 2023 revised notification superseded the earlier 2021 scheme. It should be used when examining the event period and claim conditions to which that revision applies.

Policy period and present-day use

This explanation covers the notification issued under HEEP 2020. Haryana notified its Progressive MSME & Export Promotion Policy on 29 July 2026, expressly superseding HEEP 2020. An older claim and a new investment therefore need separate checks of the transition provisions, relevant dates and operative scheme instructions. The historic benefit below should not be entered as an assured receipt in a new project budget.

The event and expenditure must qualify

The revised scheme provides for assistance towards one national and one international exhibition in a financial year, within its conditions. It addresses eligible participation expenditure and has separate limits for travel and stay. The enterprise category is micro or small; medium status should not be assumed eligible because the wider department serves MSMEs.

The notification's percentage is subject to component limits and exclusions. For example, assistance for promotional literature does not make the cost of the displayed products eligible. Keep the booth, literature, travel and accommodation costs separately identified.

Plan the evidence before travelling

Retain the organiser's event details, participation confirmation, booth invoice and payment records. Record who represented the enterprise, the travel itinerary and expenditure, and the evidence of actual participation. Product photographs or event records should support what the unit exhibited.

The unit should also preserve its registration, operating location and enterprise classification for the relevant period. If another organisation funded part of the participation, identify that support in the cost working rather than claiming the same expense twice.

From participation to claim

Check the applicable event conditions and submission deadline before making bookings. After the event, reconcile each requested amount with eligible expenditure and the notified ceiling. For older participation, assemble the event and filing dates with earlier correspondence so the claim can be examined under the correct revision and transition arrangements.
