The HEEP 2020 employment-generation incentive connects assistance to qualifying jobs created by eligible new units in B, C and D category blocks. A claim must establish both the unit's eligibility and the employees who satisfy the notified conditions.

Policy period and present-day use

This explanation covers the notification issued under HEEP 2020. Haryana notified its Progressive MSME & Export Promotion Policy on 29 July 2026, expressly superseding HEEP 2020. An older claim and a new investment therefore need separate checks of the transition provisions, relevant dates and operative scheme instructions. The historic benefit below should not be entered as an assured receipt in a new project budget.

Employment has to be evidenced employee by employee

The July 2021 scheme refers to Haryana-resident employees on the relevant ESI or PF records and distinguishes employee categories when setting assistance. Headcount in a company presentation is therefore insufficient. The claim needs a traceable population for the relevant period, with joining dates, resident evidence and statutory contribution records.

The notified benefit is annual and subject to the prescribed period and conditions. Prepare the calculation from the eligible employment record, then apply the unit's applicable category and approved benefit years. Do not apply the highest employee-category amount across the full payroll.

Keep the unit and payroll boundaries clear

For a company operating several sites, establish which employees work in the eligible unit and how transfers, exits and changes in status are recorded. Reconcile the payroll with attendance, wage payments and ESI/PF filings. A claim that cannot explain those differences is harder to substantiate.

The original scheme also refers to employment-related legal conditions. Their present legal position must be checked separately; an older incentive notification should not be used as a statement of current hiring law.

Preparing a continuing claim

Collect the unit's production date, registrations, location and original eligibility records. Add the employee-level working, supporting returns, payments and earlier claim decisions. Review whether the claim concerns a previously eligible employment period or a new investment under a successor policy before choosing the filing route.
