PADMA capital investment assistance supports qualifying micro and small enterprises linked to Haryana's approved PADMA products and clusters. It concerns the unit's eligible plant, machinery and building investment. The implementing agency's cluster infrastructure grant is covered separately under PCIDS.

The March 2024 notification distinguishes units inside an approved cluster from new units outside it in the relevant block and identified product. Location and product evidence must therefore be established together.

Benefit and conditions

Inside a cluster, the notification provides 25% assistance up to ₹25 lakh for other qualifying micro and small units, and 30% up to ₹30 lakh for the specified women, SC or SHG-owned category. It sets different outside-cluster limits and limits the number of supported cases. For an outside-cluster project, obtain confirmation of the applicable percentage and ceiling before including an amount in the investment plan.

The notified period is 17 August 2023 to 16 August 2028, or policy validity. The unit must be engaged in the approved product, meet registration requirements, be in commercial production and continue operating for the stipulated period. The scheme also addresses land tenure, PADMA branding and restrictions on similar capital assistance under other state policies.

Evidence for a unit-level application

Prepare documentary confirmation of the cluster and product relationship, land ownership or registered lease, Udyam and HUM records, investment schedule, invoices and commercial-production evidence. An expansion needs the original gross fixed-investment baseline and a clear schedule of additional investment.

The notification links filing to commercial production and specifies a three-month period, subject to its alternative notification dates. Confirm the applicable trigger before commissioning and preserve the complete application acknowledgement. Subsequent inspection and sanction should be recorded as distinct steps.

Does owning a plot establish subsidy eligibility?

No. The unit's activity, investment, dates and other conditions still need to satisfy the scheme. A developer's statement is not the unit's sanction.
